The Private Beta Klinik:Quality and Specialisation – A Successful Concept

The Beta Klinik in Bonn is an internationally renowned private clinic. Specialists work together in interdisciplinary teams across nearly 30 areas of specialisation and expertise. Working both individually and comprehensively, they address and treat the needs of every patient as needed.

Nearly 60 doctors and more than 180 staff work in highly specialised doctors' practices as well as in clinical operations and various administrative and medical areas to offer both national and international patients a unique concept of treatment of the highest standards as expected from university hospital levels.

For nearly ten years, The Beta Klinik has stood for the highest quality in diagnostics and treatment. The person as a whole is always the focus of the medical treatment. Under the medical supervision of Dr. med. Axel Jung and Prof. Dr. med. Thomas Gasser, specialists of all disciplines work together in close consultation to identify and establish the cause of complaint and to develop the gentlest and best possible forms of treatment for the patient.

The resulting phenomenal success of The Beta Klinik is based on a combination of the following two statements:

1. Highly professional specialisation is delivered and ensured using a wide range of medical know-how in both out-patient and clinical areas as well as the most modern technology as used in university teaching hospitals.
2. A distinctive and holistic approach which the patient feels and senses from their very first moments of their stay: Currently around 60 doctors of all specialisations work as an interdisciplinary team.

These doctors are supported by more than 180 medical staff. Anaesthetics to neurosurgery and from neurology to cardiology, oncology, psychology and urology - to name just a few - are all areas which are represented here. The advantage is, according to Thomas Gasser: "Our patients don't have to change from practice to practice and be re-examined each time. They don't waste any time at all. Even with complex complaints, the results of all examinations can be collated on the day of the examination and discussed together with all relevant specialists".

The clinic offers all interested parties, especially business managers of taking advantage of the tailor-made check-up programmes. Here early risks and illnesses can be detected and effective measures can be taken. A sports and performance diagnostics programme developed and supported by the orthopaedic team complements the clinic's offer as a further focus point.

"Thanks to our wide range of diagnostic possibilities and experience, our specialists at the Beta Klinik are often sought out for second opinions and are consulted for already diagnosed illness and treatment concepts", underlines Axel Jung on the successful development of the Beta Klinik.

As well as the technical diagnostics and treatment, the equipment in the patient bedrooms, day rooms and lounges all meet the requirements of a demanding clientele in an internationally renowned private clinic.

The clinic has two operating theatres class 1A and a hybrid-OP class 1B, an intensive care ward, its own clinical laboratory for immediate blood analysis, an in-house laboratory fully equipped for genetic diagnostics, and an in-house dental laboratory.

The clinic works with two high field magnetic resonance imaging scanners (MRI) of the latest kind (1,5 and 3 Tesla), and a multi-slice computer tomograph (CT), a left heart catheter, many ultrasound devices including breast ultrasound and urology ultrasound equipment with MRI diagnostics, an X-ray machine, various endoscopy devices, shock wave therapy equipment, digital mammography with tomosynthesis, a Zeiss operation high performance microscope, a neuro-navigation machine, a dermatological laser , with neurofeedback and in-house sterilisation for surgical instruments.

The equipment in the patients' bedrooms is that of an upmarket four-star hotel. In addition, the Beta Klinik has two luxurious suites with a separate living area next to the bedroom and bathroom.

The patients of the Beta Klinik come from the surrounding areas of Bonn and south Rhineland, the rest of Germany and from abroad, particularly from Europe, the Middle East and Asia with a special focus on China and Malaysia as well as the United States of America.

Speed, comprehensive service and efficiency are what international patients, above all, expect. The Beta Klinik offers within its International Patient Management, a complete interpreters service, chauffeur services and above all, individual advice on costs and invoicing modalities for its international patients.

All these services are available in the Beta Klinik model and have contributed to its rapid growth. With various co-operations which extend to and include some research topics and the constant on-going training, the Beta Klinik is not only attractive to patients but also to highly qualified and dedicated doctors.
